

I have had the opportunity to listen to both local and satellite programming. The bar has been raised by satellite programming. The quality is superior, the variety is tremendous and the sound quality is crystal clear. When I demand a superior product I don't mind paying a premium for it, and in this case I am receiving my money's worth.

Local traditional programmers, including many current members of the NAB, should re-dedicate their advertisement income dollars and learn how to do two things: 1) how to produce a better product for the community and 2) how to compete in a evolving market---Business School 101.

Don't let Congress or the FCC be USED as a Bullypit.
